

In Communications Network

NETWORK WAKE-UP PATTERN MATCHING

ABSTRACT

Stations in a communications network are awakened by matching a pattern received from the communications network with patterns in the stations. When a 5 match occurs, the stations are awakened. The patterns are arranged contiguously on word boundaries. A nibble (4 bits) in a mask word identifies the part of the pattern word to be used in the comparison.